

Sail blazer: the Star Flyer, a 360ft four-master, the first commercial sailing ship registered at Lloyd's since early this century, crossed the Channel on her maiden voyage yesterday under full sail. The ship, reputed to be the tallest in the world, will carry 180 guests in luxury. On-board fittings include marble fireplaces

Sail blazer: the Star Flyer, a 360-ft four-master, is the first commercial sailing ship registered at Lloyd's since early this century. After sea trials off the Belgian coast, she crossed the channel yesterday on her maiden voyage under 36,000 ft of full sail and will carry 180 guests in luxury at 17 knots